

DEATH LIST REACHES 2,000 IN TERRIBLE FLOODS RAGING THROUGHOUT OHIO AND INDIANA

Dayton, Ohio, and Peru, Ind., Where Great Areas Are Inundated, Show Heavy Losses

DESTRUCTION IS MOST APPALLING

Governor Cox Appeals to War Department for Tents and Rations to Supply Thousands Who Are Homeless-- Reports From Flood Districts

Chicago, March 26.—Daybreak up on the desolation brought by the flood throughout Ohio and Indiana. A faint hope that the estimate of the loss of life the night before may be somewhat reduced. Dawn revealed more fully the condition of the stricken cities and at daybreak the reports from the flood were only partly verified. The reports from the flood swept sections in the two states show the following revised estimate of the loss of life, based upon reports from refugees and upon a possible diminution in the reports from Peru, Ind.: Dayton 500 to 1000. Piqua (rumored) 500. Delaware 50 to 100. Sidney 23 to 50. Middletown 50 to 100. Hamilton 12. Tippencanoe City 3 to 5. Scattering 16. Total Ohio 1195 to 1600. Indiana, Peru 60 to 250. Fort Wayne, 2. Total in Indiana, 73 to 250. Grand total 1268 to 1950.

The first ray of comfort from Dayton came with the report of the refugees arriving at Xenia, that the death list which had been estimated as high as 5000 drowned would range from 500 to 1000. A similar report in the number of victims received from Peru to South Bend, Ind., by telephone. The earliest figures from 200 to 500 and down to 60 although the reports from Warsaw, Ind., still estimates that 250 persons had lost their lives.

In contrast to the slight hope came the prospect of the possible death list in cities not yet heard from and the possibility that other places not yet mentioned as visited by the disaster had suffered. Miamisburg a town of 1000 twelve miles below Dayton is reported to have been washed away but no news as to the casualties among the inhabitants has yet been received. Anxiety in Indiana.

At day break increased anxiety in Indiana centered about Brookville and Connersville. From which frantic appeals for aid were made last night to Governor Haskin, just before wire communications failed. It was reported to the governor that the White-water river levee had given way and the valley was flooded sweeping hundreds of people before it.

The rumored death list at Piqua of 510 was still uncontradicted and at daylight no further confirmation of it had come to hand. Throughout the night the most strenuous efforts at relief operations were made. The governor of Ohio had ordered the entire state militia to aid in the work of rescuing and official appeals for help were sent to the neighboring states.

Relief Preparations. Preparations were made by the state legislature of Ohio at Columbus to appropriate $250,000 for the relief of the sufferers. The Governor estimated the homeless in Ohio at 250,000. Similar efforts are being made to aid citizens at Peru, Ind., and other Indiana cities. Supplies of every description were rushed to Peru from other towns, but the problem of penetrating the flooded district was only little less perplexing than that at Dayton. At daylight it seemed that the main hope of reaching the city may be in motor boats. Ordinary row boats stood little chance of breasting the current.

Ohio Still Rising. Marietta, O., March 26.—With the Ohio river rising rapidly and all surrounding streams hurling a large volume of water into it, residents of this city section are alarmed over the prospects of a flood. Reports this morning indicated that the Ohio river would continue to rise at least throughout the day. The Muskingum river is also reported to be rising rapidly at headquarters. The towns of Stockport, Beverly, McConnellville and Pleasant City are under water, and wire and railroad communications have been cut off. The extent of the damage done by the flood in these places is not known.

Continue Rescue Work. Delaware, Ohio, March 26.—Rescue work continued this morning in the flooded district and the list of those believed to be dead was changed from time to time. Several reported dead were found after daylight and others believed saved were reported dead. However, the list of dead will probably reach 40 or 50. Because of meagre reports from the main business section of Delaware the exact number is still unknown.

impassable and many of the employees in the stores and offices were prevented from reaching their places of employment. Many were driven to the outskirts of the city far from their own homes, however, and were unable to communicate with friends.

The immediate need today is for food and medical supplies. The great demand for food exhausted the supplies in the outskirts of the city and survivors are now depending entirely on what may be brought in during the day.

Fear is anticipated that typhoid may result from the rise of water. The breaking of the Tarton reservoir immediately shut off the usual supply of filtered water.

One fact, however, which brought hope was that the torrent which had continued for forty-eight hours had decreased.

Conditions at Peru. Warsaw, Ind., March 26.—Reports from Peru forty miles from here are that there are 250 lives lost in the flood due to the sudden rise of the river. Practically the entire town is under water, only one square remaining uninundated. The water is standing up to the second stories in the business districts.

Reports Exaggerated. Columbus, March 26 (Bulletin).—The number of dead will reach several hundred in Dayton, according to a telephone message Governor Cox received from Operator Bell of the Bell Telephone company at Dayton this morning. Reports concerning the number of fatalities have been exaggerated, the operator told the governor, yet he said conditions there were beyond description.

The severe damage is confined to the territory along the bends in the Miami river west of the main business section of the city, according to Mr. Bell.

A morgue is being established on the west side of the city this morning, according to the governor's informant, and efforts to cover the bodies and aid the suffering were being made as rapidly as conditions will permit. Relief trains were arriving in the stricken towns this morning, Mr. Bell said, and the water is receding.

Death List at 100. According to Operator Bell a number of men who have been making a thorough investigation of conditions in the flooded section of Dayton as possible, report that the dead will probably number about one hundred. The most loss of life from the flood is said to have been done over an area of about fifty acres of ground.

That pressure on the natural gas mains added today to Dayton's peril was indicated by a message sent by Edward W. Hanley, head of the Gas company, urgently instructing a subordinate to get out north of the city and cut down the pressure.

Ask Federal Aid. (Bulletin).—Federal aid in handling the Ohio flood situation was asked today when Governor Cox telegraphed the war department at Washington asking that 50,000 tents and 100,000 rations be made available for use and distribution by the Ohio national guard.

At least 150 persons were drowned in Columbus as a result of the flooded Scioto river, according to reports from the flooded west side section of the city this morning. These reports came as a result of a partial restoration of telephone communication at the west side.

Numerous persons who are considered conservative, assert that they saw scores of bodies float down stream and dozens of persons carried away in houses.

The house of representatives today, under suspension of rules, passed a bill carrying $250,000 to be placed in the hands of the governor for relief of the flood sufferers. The senate will pass the measure this afternoon.

Flood Now Receding. Phenixton, Ohio, March 26.—(Via telephone from Chicago).—A report from the flooded district at Dayton, received here today, says that on the west side of the city there were from

ADRIANOPLE FALLS BEFORE THE ATTACK OF BULGARIAN ARMY

TURKISH FORTRESS SURRENDERS TODAY AFTER MONTHS OF DETERMINED RESISTANCE.

PASHA IS A SUICIDE

Leader of Turkish Troops Takes His Own Life When Bulgars Enter City Which is Reported in Flames.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Adrianople, March 26.—The fortress of Adrianople was taken by the Bulgarians this morning after fighting of the most terrible character since Monday. The flames are devastating the city.

Confirmed at Berlin. Berlin, March 26.—The fall of Adrianople is announced definitely by the Sofia correspondent of the Presse Centrale. The Bulgarian Schipka regiment was the first to enter the city. The Turkish military depots have been blown up.

Pasha A Suicide. London, March 26.—Shukri Pasha, the Turkish commander in chief of the Turkish army, was reported to have committed suicide after the capture of the city according to a news agency dispatch from Sofia.

City is on Fire. Sofia, March 26.—At an early hour this morning fires were raging in various sections of the besieged city. The maddened population whose nerves had been shattered by the almost incessant bombardment for a period of more than five months was fleeing about the streets from one point to another not knowing where to find shelter.

The great arsenal in the city was burning and the barracks lying between the hospital and the northern forts were in flames.

Make Final Dash. The Bulgarians in strong force gradually the city and by short rushes the infantry approached near enough to prepare for the final dash. On all sides the combined movement of the attackers on the ever resisting city was continued. The Bulgarian infantry had reached within 300 yards of the main forts at five o'clock last evening. They remained there while ammunition and provisions were brought up from the rear and preparations were made for the final assault.

Take Entire Fortress. The entire line of fortresses defending the eastern side of the city was captured by the Bulgarians after a spectacular assault at the point of the bayonet by long lines of infantry which were strengthened rapidly by the second or reserve lines.

The eastern forts soon fell into their hands and Bulgarian batteries were immediately placed in position to concentrate the fire on the other works. The way was thus cleared for a direct assault on the city itself.

Physical training, with special reference to schools of various grades will be thoroughly discussed by experts and there will also be athletic and gymnastic exhibitions by school children, members of the Y. M. C. A. and teams from several colleges in this vicinity. The convention will continue through the rest of the week.

LEWIS AND SHERMAN TO SERVE ILLINOIS IN THE U. S. SENATE

Deadline in the Illinois Legislature is Broken Today After Prolonged Fight.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Springfield, Ill., March 26.—J. Hamilton Lewis was elected United States senator for the long term and Lewis Sherman for the short term.

SAYS CREAMERY MEN BADLY MANIPULATE THE BABCOCK TEST

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., March 26.—Charges were made by Dairy and Food Commissioner Emery that the Babcock test is falsified by creameries some times by oversteering, at others by understeering. Mr. Emery, speaking before the public welfare committee yesterday, gave this as one of the principal reasons why the state needs the enactment of the Ross bill, 627A. This bill provides that in using the Babcock test in manufacturing butter to determine the value of the milk or cream bought, the creamery shall, when paying for it, include in the check a statement of the number of pounds of butter made for the period of time for which the payment is made.

As it now stands, the law makes the value of the cream depend on the Babcock test, and Commissioner Emery complains that the law is loose and asserts the bill would give the state department a means of determining the value of the milk or cream which they manufacture into butter. Present conditions, he said, are a detriment to the industry in the state. He declared that one of the great lacks in the creamery industry today is integrity, through the tendency to resort to underhanded methods to win over business rivals.

Regards Plumbing Bill. Arguments were made before the state affairs committee yesterday in favor of the Gannon bill providing for the licensing of plumbers and the establishment of boards for inspection and licensing, and because of non-agreement over the best way of administering it, the committee decided to allow the plumbers, the state industrial commission and the state board of health to draft a substitute bill. The present bill would interfere somewhat upon powers vested in the industrial commission and health board.

The bill provides for a state board of plumbers of three members, a state plumbing inspector, and local plumbing boards. The latter may be created at the will of the common councils for their respective cities. It was argued that the fees collected by the bill would obviate additional expense by the state. It was stated there are 604 master plumbers and 10,254 journeymen plumbers in the state, and that from the fees paid the state would receive about $20,000 and the cities about $9,675 the first year.

Assemblyman Gannon said that nearly 25 states have such a law, and declared that to prevent further illness and disease from defective plumbing in Wisconsin a similar law was an absolute necessity.

Various Ones Speak. Attorney J. E. Martin of Green Bay, representing the master and journeyman plumbers, explained that the law is not proposed to apply except where councils vote to adopt it.

D. M. Reeke, a Green Bay master plumber, displayed photographs of defective plumbing tending to breed disease, the examples being taken from various Wisconsin cities.

Assemblyman Sawyer inquired whether Mr. Reeke would recommend that the proposed board should have power to regulate plumbers' charges. Mr. Reeke replied in the negative and declared that all things considered, plumbers on the average, charge no more than a reasonable price for work performed, and, as a rule, have no intention of being exorbitant.

Dr. C. A. Harper, secretary of the state board of health, endorsed the bill which will safeguard the public from defective plumbing. In the light of this great need, he said, the incidental expense should not be given too much weight. From a commercial standpoint, also, he believed poor plumbing was an expensive thing.

WRIT OF MANDAMUS IS SIGNED BY JUDGE GRIMM IN LOCAL RECALL FIGHT

GRANT INJUNCTION IN LICENSE FIGHT AT BELOIT TODAY

Means That Question of License Cannot Be Voted on at the Coming Spring Election.

Judge J. E. Clarke in the Beloit municipal court this morning granted a permanent injunction to the license forces in the case of the petition which was filed to secure a vote on the matter of license or no license at the coming spring election. The costs were assessed to the city of Beloit. This will mean that the issue of a "wet" or "dry" town cannot be voted on at this time, as there is not time to take an appeal to the circuit court. The injunction which was issued by Circuit Court Commissioner Clarke Monday afternoon at the instance of Charles F. Mueller in behalf of the license forces, was served on City Clerk Wood Tuesday afternoon, restraining him from placing the license question on the ballot for the election next Tuesday.

The saloon faction contended that 100 of the signatures attached to the petition circulated by the no-license forces are illegal because they were signed on Sunday and that eighty-four more of the names are illegal because no dates were written in the space reserved for this purpose, which is demanded by law.

Janesville citizens will be especially interested in the Beloit fight because it is analogous in many ways to the contest which has been waged in this city for three months past on the recall proposition. In both cities the alignment of forces has been practically the same and the question raised has been in regard to the signatures appearing on petitions which were drawn in, it is true, for differing purposes. In Beloit the petitions were brought up by the "dry" element and are declared to be illegal by the saloon interests. In Janesville the petitions were filed by the wide-open town or liberal element and were opposed by the city administration on the grounds of their insufficiency and by the friends of law-enforcement, not necessarily the anti-saloon interests.

That saloon forces seemed to have a clear case at Beloit was shown by the following statement made by City Attorney H. W. Adams:

"There are at present 422 names on the petition. Of this number 105 are dated as being obtained on Sunday and I don't think there is any question but that they are illegal. Then there are twenty-five more that are undated but are among those dated as being signed on Sunday. That looks pretty much as though they were put down on the same day. This will leave just exactly 282 names—exactly the number required to get the no-license question on the ballot. There are, however, several of the remaining signatures that are in doubt and if they are found invalid the petition will be insufficient."

CHICAGO WOMEN SHOT
BY PURSUED BURGLAR

Burglar Enters Residence to Escape Police. Shoots Women and Attempts Suicide—Both Will Die.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, March 26.—Mrs. Anna Finsterbusch, forty-three years old, was shot and probably fatally wounded in her home on the north side today by an unidentified man pursued by detectives as a supposed burglar who took refuge in her home and fired through a door when he heard a noise in an adjoining room.

When the police arrived the man fired a bullet into his head in attempt to commit suicide to evade capture. Both were moved in dying condition to a hospital.

JOHN L. FISHER MAKES APPLICATION BEFORE COURT AT MONROE TODAY

City Clerk J. P. Hammarlund Called to Appear Before Court Here April 7 to Show Cause Why Elections Should Not Be Called.

Judge Grimm this afternoon signed three separate writs of mandamus in the case of the Wisconsin ex. rel. Charles H. Sykes against John P. Hammarlund, city clerk, ordering that the city clerk shall hold the three petitions for the recall of Roy M. Cummings, James A. Fathers, and C. K. Millmore, commissioners of the city of Janesville, as good and sufficient, or show cause why he does not, at the opening of the circuit court at Janesville on April 7.

Attorney John L. Fisher, representing the recall faction, presented the applications for filing at the office of the clerk of the circuit court here this morning and left on the ten-fifty train for Monroe where he presented the papers to Judge Grimm for signature.

The issuing of the writs on the part of the court is merely the usual procedure necessary to bring the matter into court, and is merely an indication that the recall faction is ready to press their claims and contentions to the limit. It has been known to the city officials that this action would doubtless be taken up as soon as the counsel for the recall element had prepared their case.

The legal term applied to the writ such as is issued in this, is an alternative writ of mandamus.

It is possible that the case, which will be contested by the city clerk, may be placed on the May calendar of the circuit court and may be tried before a jury. However, Judge Grimm stated to the Gazette in a conversation over the long distance telephone, that he had purposely refrained from acquainting himself with the exact reading of the statutes in the case until it should actually be brought before him. The issuance of the writs means that the recall fight will be left to the court for settlement.

The recall case was set forth at length in the application and complaint, and embodied a complete history of the contest from the recall side.

Mr. Hammarlund, in his answer, will indicate his reasons for finding the various petitions insufficient as he did at the time of making his certification to the city council.

REAR ADMIRAL MERTZ LEAVES THE SERVICE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., March 26.—Rear Admiral Mertz, one of the best known officers of the navy, was retired from active service today on account of having reached the age limit of sixty-two years. Admiral Mertz is a native of Dodge County, Wisconsin, and received his early education in his native state. He graduated from the academy at Annapolis in 1872. He possesses medals for service in the Cuban and Philippine campaigns. In the first named he served as the monitor Amphitrite and in the Philippine campaign he commanded the supply ship Glacier. In 1898 Admiral Mertz, who at that time held the rank of Captain, received the warmest commendation from the Navy Department and the Department of Commerce and Labor for his successful accomplishment of the task of taking six vessels of the light house service from New York to San Francisco by way of the Straits of Magellan, a difficult and dangerous voyage being consummated in 124 days. In 1899 Admiral Mertz was assigned to the command of the United States naval stations in the Philippines, where he remained until about a year ago, when he was appointed Governor of the Naval Home in Philadelphia.

EDITOR ON TRIAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Appleton, March 26.—In addition to standing trial on the charge of arson, to which he has pleaded guilty, P. Postmaster Inspector George P. Reldensbach yesterday discovered the shortage and Shirley has tendered his resignation.

Manager Fred Clarke of the Pittsburgh Pirates has his players training at Hot Springs on the anxious seat. He has threatened to send out a party in charge of Indian Eastman for a hike over the mountains and to fine any one who cannot keep up to the redskin. The Chief is a regular bear-cat when it comes to eating up distance and not a man in the squad can compare with him as a cross-country walker. The players are thinking of getting up a petition that Clarke spare them from this torture.

Jimmy Archer, Chicago Cub hold-out, is rumored to be possible manager and catcher of one of the teams in the new Federal League, a circuit being organized outside the jurisdiction of organized baseball. The story has it that unless owner Charles W. Murphy comes across with the $7,500 demanded by the man touted as "the best catcher in the world," Archer will be given a large gob of stock and a fat salary for his services with either St. Louis or Detroit of the new circuit. Jimmy discreetly has said nothing.

Youthful Mr. Cedeon, late of the San Francisco Coast League, is making a tremendous hit in spring training with the Washington American League team. His admirers declare him the best looking young player who has broken into fast company in some time. Manager Griffith plans to shoot.

CHEERING STUDENTS BID TEAM SUCCESS

Janesville Basketball Five Leaves at Noon Today for State Tournament at Appleton.

(By Scoop.) Coach Curtis and his basketball warriors left this noon for Appleton over the Northwestern road. They were given a rousing send-off by the entire student body from the high school, together with about two hundred other rooters. The platform at the station was packed and many times Janesville's cheer leaders succeeded in arousing the crowd in real lively enthusiasm. The team is in the best of condition, and if they are defeated by any of the other teams, it will mean that they were out-classed. Several of the students accompanied the team and will be on the side lines to help the locals win out.

Coach Curtis expressed his confidence in the locals' chance of winning the title, by stating: "I see no reason why the locals cannot win at least the first game. If they can pull out ahead in the first game, it is safe to say that they will be given a chance in the finals on Saturday night. The men are in the best of condition, and much is expected of them. In conclusion, I think that we should not worry about the locals in the least."

Captain Falter has also expressed his opinion on Janesville's chance for victory. He said that it was up to the men, and how hard they play, which will determine the score in our favor. If the team can repeat their performance of last Saturday against the Alumni, then the state championship will be about certain.

The men who made the trip were: Captain Falter, r.g.; Edler, l.g.; Hemming, c.; Dalton, r.g.; Atwood, l.f.; Kuhlow, sub guard; L. Stewart, sub forward; Ryan, sub center, and Coach Curtis.

"Rags" Brown and Bud Anderson are in training for their 20-round bout scheduled for Tom McCarey's Vernon Arena on April 12.

Expert opinions are divided as to the true condition of Ad Wolgast. Some of the boxing critics claim that Ad is all in while others claim that he is as good as he ever was.

Bob McAllister, the amateur champion middleweight and heavyweight of California, made his debut as a professional at Oakland the other night, and defeated Willie Meehan in a 10-round bout.

ONE-TIME BROWNE, NOW WITH THE SEALS

"Tab" Spencer.

"Tab" Spencer, husky, easy-going catcher some years ago with the St. Louis Browns, now is sporting himself behind the plate for the San Francisco team of the Pacific Coast League.

The son of wealthy parents, he has played baseball not for the money that is in it, but for the fun of it. He declined to take the game too seriously when in St. Louis, and was of less value than he might otherwise have been because of his failure to keep in shape.

With his mind now more attuned to the words of Manager Del Howard than it was to those of Manager Jimmy McAllister, he is expected to be a big help to the reconstructed Seals.

CARDINALS TO PLAY HORLICK RACINE TEAM SATURDAY

On Saturday night the Janesville Cardinals clash with the Horlick Racine team in basketball at the rink. This is the first meeting of these teams and the Lakotas are out to win. The strength of the Racine team is not known, but they have played many of the strong northern teams and have won the majority of the games.

The Cardinals have been inactive for over three weeks, a few of the players playing in the alumni game. Langdon is sufficiently recovered from his sickness and the team is in fair condition to play a hard game. Green will hold down a forward with Cunningham, and with Wilkinson at center and with their three guards, Langdon, Brown and Booth, the team should win from the Racine team.

Jimmy Callahan.

Jimmy Callahan, manager of the Chicago White Sox, is said to be planning to do most of his managing from the bench this year. He has had a good deal of trouble getting into condition, and indications are that he will at least wait until the season is well advanced before jumping into the outfield himself.

THE BUDGET SYSTEM.

Wisconsin democrats at the last election realized the force of an appeal to the voters in regard to extravagance of the state administration and that the arguments which were based on that issue found weight with the electorate of the state may be seen in the result.
There are hundreds of good citizens of Wisconsin who were and are today firmly convinced that affairs at Madison are not being run as economically as they might be. Whether the democratic party could have or would have improved upon the present situation is purely problematical for it is certain that the party's retrenchment policy was hazy as outlined last fall.

But the effect of this state-wide agitation has been an awakening on the part of the present administration.
The Wisconsin state board of public affairs, whose duty it is to formulate a financial policy for the state, has given the matter of the state budget some close attention during the past months and the result has been a publication on this important subject with S. Gale Lowrie as the author.

Much of Mr. Lowrie's work is original. There are few published books on the subject. In it he outlines the present system in Wisconsin, indicating its weaknesses and inconsistencies; he prescribes a remedy for which he takes fully into consideration the practical aspects; and then he gives a rather detailed account of the budget systems in some of the foreign states and in the various American commonwealths. The treatise shows study and thought and is supplied with foot notes to books of reference and with illustrative tables.

To Wisconsin citizens the most interesting portion is his diagnosis of the conditions in this state and his remedy. At the outset he takes care to point out a fact which is doubtless true—that the cost of governmental administration has increased enormously in practically every state due to the fact that the field of governmental functions has been widened to include many matters which were formerly of local concern. The other reason noted for the high cost of government is that public enterprise has failed to follow the course of private industry in the matter of business methods.

Mr. Lowrie then takes up in detail the hit and miss system of determining the amount of money which the state will need for a two year period.
At present the legislature is dependent for information in regard to the states' financial affairs on the governor's messages and on meager reports received from the secretary of state. This practice of presenting estimates has proved entirely unsatisfactory and should be supplanted in Mr. Lowrie's opinion, and the suggestion seems a very sound one, by a system of estimates made up at a given date before the convening of the legislature made by each department of the government covering in detail the probable cost of carrying on its work for the ensuing two years.

Mr. Lowrie hits upon the state board of affairs, which is composed of the governor, the secretary of state, chairman of the finance committees of the senate and assembly, and three appointive members, as the only existing body which is qualified to handle the matters of estimates from the various departments. In addition to estimates from the departments which are submitted, the members of the legislature who are planning on introducing bills which will carry with them appropriations must also be given into the hands of the board before the session is called so that at the very beginning of the legislature's meeting a printed statement of the probable appropriations to be made can be placed into the hands of the members.

The matter of the state's revenue will also be considered by the board, which will also keep an account of the expenditures of each department during the past year, and the citation of the statutes under which a given appropriation can be made. By the method which is carefully outlined, it will be plain and very nearly cut and dried just what the legislature shall do in the way of financial affairs during its session. This may appear undemocratic on its face, but Mr.
Lowrie attempts to widen his plan so that it may rest as much as possible with the legislature. He merely wishes to have ready for them a convenient data by which they can see exactly what it costs to run the various branches of administration and to aid them in the carrying on of the finance work.

This systematic method on its faces would have the effect toward economy. A legislator confronted with the enormous sums required as they would appear in tabular form would be inclined to go slower in the matter of "fool" appropriations and "hobbies" which he lets slip by at present through carelessness or some logrolling agreement.

It is impossible to treat fully Mr.
Lowrie's plan, but in the interest of businesslike methods of administering the state's business and securing economy by the application of simple business principles, it appears to be a step in the right direction.

TARIFF RADICALS.

The Chicago Inter Ocean sees much danger in the tariff tinkering which the ultra progressive democrats in congress would suggest. In discussing the question it says:

"President Wilson is reported to have given his approval to the tariff bill which the democrats of the ways and means committee will have ready for introduction when congress meets on April 7 and to have promised to push its passage with the whole influence of the executive department.
Including, we would say with any former president, its patronage powers.

"Whether President Wilson will now descend, to promote his tariff views, from his somewhat lofty and detached attitude with respect to his patronage powers remains to be seen.
He is and should be credited with sincerity in that attitude. But when we remember how potent an instrument of influence patronage is, and the existing democratic hunger and thirst, we may be excused for some doubts as to Mr. Wilson's ability to maintain that attitude.

"From the summaries wired from Washington it is evident that the radical or 'tariff-for-revenue-only' section of the democracy is in the saddle in the tariff-making business. The general impression produced by the rough draft of the bill classes it with the 'Walker tariff' of 1846, the production of the Hon. Robert J. Walker of Alabama, who was extremely well instructed in British 'free trade' theories but without any sort of experience in conducting manufacturing enterprises.

"The new democratic tariff, if it becomes a law as planned, will doubtless be hailed with delight by the sugar and wool growers of all other countries, the citrus fruit growers of Spain, Italy and the West Indies, and the manufacturers of England, Germany and France. Whether it will be found so delightful by the American people may be most gravely doubted.
"However, the American voter,
whose will is law, has seen fit to enter upon another experience in the way of democratic tariff making, and has again assumed that the democratic party can make a tariff without bringing disaster upon the great industries of the nation. So there doesn't seem to be anything particular to say at this stage of the game but to recall the saying of Benjamin Franklin that 'Experience is a dear school, but men will learn in no other.'

DEATH'S TOLL.

Today's reports from the Ohio and Indiana flood districts place the loss of life at anywhere from twelve to nineteen hundred, with many districts yet to be heard from. The beautiful city of Dayton has suffered a terrible disaster and along the banks of the rivers, whole communities have been wiped out of existence. At Peru, Indiana, the conditions are appalling and the details, yet meagre, tell of death coming unawares to these startled communities which scarcely had warning of any immediate danger. The whole country will be called upon for aid to both the Ohio and Indiana communities as well as the homeless in Omaha and throughout the southern states where the storms and floods have left their trail of death and devastation. Response should be promptly made and everything possible done to alleviate suffering. It is one of God's dispensations that man can not fathom the meaning of and every man is a brother in suffering.
When the appeal comes, as it will, let it find Wisconsin ready to pay its share to aid the suffering.

BOOM JANESVILLE.

A mass meeting has been called for Friday evening next at the Assembly room in the city hall, to discuss ways and means of presenting Janesville's claims to the special legislative committee seeking a location for the Wisconsin state fair if it is removed from Milwaukee. It should be well attended and enthusiasm shown in the prospect of putting Janesville on the map.

No city in the state can offer such an ideal location or such railroad facilities as Janesville and this should be considered when a location is discussed at Madison.

There is many a taxpayer puzzling over the wording of the new income tax blanks sent out for filling in and sending to the county income as-essor. One problem has been presented to the Gazette for solving and has been passed on to the state tax commission for a ruling, and the answer will be published as soon as received.

News of the Omaha cyclone and of the floods in Ohio and Indiana were given in detail on the afternoon's issue of the Gazette, while the morning papers, published the night before, which reached the city, merely gave rumors. This shows the value of an evening paper equipped with a worldwide news service.

Following Instructions.

The report was carried to the captain that the passenger in stateroom
No. 23 had died and the captain ordered a deckhand to go and throw the body overboard.

A few minutes afterward the deckhand reported. He was covered with perspiration and gave all evidence of having had the fight of his life. His face was scratched and his clothing torn.

"Did you follow my instructions?"
asked the captain.

"I did," he replied. "The passenger in stateroom No. 33 has been put overboard as per your instructions."
"No. 33?" shrieked the captain. "I didn't say stateroom No. 33. I said
No. 23."

"Well, I guess that's my mistake," replied the deckhand. "That fellow in No. 33 told me he wasn't dead, but some men he so nowadays you can't believe a thing they say."

The beautifully precise drills, the dashing cavalry exercises, which won the General's compliment, and which you will see in the Howe

Thirty-Four and One-Half Inches Recorded at Government Gauge This Morning—Ice Coming Down.

Rock river is slowly subsiding from the height to which it was swollen by the heavy rains and melting snow last Sunday. This morning the government gauge at the upper dam showed the level of the river at 34 1/2 inches, a drop of about two inches in twelve hours. Below the dam the level of the river is falling more rapidly. The flooded basements have experienced little relief. Great sheets of ice, some of them several yards square, floated down the river today, indicating that the ice in Lake Koshkonong has broken up. Most of it was worn so thin that it broke up and disappeared in the rapids below the dam. Ice formed on the race-ways last evening.

CALLS MASS MEETING FOR FRIDAY EVENING AT ASSEMBLY ROOM

MAYOR FATHERS ISSUES CALL FOR CITIZENS TO GATHER TO DISCUSS JANESVILLE'S ADVANTAGES FOR THE STATE FAIR LOCATION.

TO MAKE ORGANIZATION

Perfect Plans Which Will Present City's Claims to Legislative Committee Which Will Report on Possible Location.

Mayor James Fathers has issued the following call for a mass meeting of citizens of Janesville for Friday evening at seven-thirty at the Assembly room in the city hall to discuss plans for perfecting an organization to present Janesville's claims to the legislative committee seeking a possible site for the Wisconsin State Fair, if it is to be removed from Milwaukee.

There is a bill before state legislature for the removal of the state fair from Milwaukee, or to be more exact from West Allis, where the present grounds are located. This bill was referred to a special committee and later by joint resolution a committee of three assemblymen and two state senators, were named to look for a possible location and report back to the legislature inside of thirty days. This committee will meet with various special committees of boosters similar to that to be formed in Janesville Friday night, and then make its report to the legislature.

Madison has already taken active steps to present its claims for the location, as have many other cities in the state. Janesville however, can offer one of the finest locations to be found, with most excellent railroad facilities, one of the richest sections of the state to draw from, an ideal location for the grounds and it should present its views forcibly if the fair is to be moved.

The call of Mayor Fathers for the mass meeting is as follows:

Janesville, March 26, 1913.
To the Citizens of Janesville:

In view of the fact, that the state legislature is considering the removal of the state fair from Milwaukee to some other location in the state and has named a special committee to investigate possible sites and make a report within thirty days, I feel that Janesville should present its claims to such a location and call a mass meeting of citizens interested in the plan for Friday evening, March 28th, at seven-thirty in the assembly room of the City Hall, at which time plans for an organization to present Janesville's claims may be effected.

JAMES A. FATHERS,
Mayor of the City of Janesville.

Previous to the above action of Mayor Fathers, the Commercial Club had discussed the same project and placed the matter in the hands of the chairman of the publicity committee of their organization. This chairman, H. H. Bliss, named the following committee of citizens, who would be most interested in the plan of presenting Janesville's claims and suggests that they attend the mass meeting at the city hall Friday evening, when a permanent organization may be effected. Plans made for presenting the claims of the city to the legislative committee decided upon. The following is the committee named by Mr. Bliss:

Chas. Putnam, John C. Nichols, J. J. Sheridan, Edward Amerpohl, Thos. S. Nolan, Isaac Connors, J. P. Sweeney, Wm. Squires, John L. Fisher, A. E. Bingham, Chas. H. Gage, F. H. Jack, Ed. R. JUSTICE J. A. SMITH PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Edgerton Court Official Will Be Tried in Municipal Court Here Next Friday Morning.

J. A. Smith, justice of the peace at Edgerton, this morning entered a plea of "not guilty" in the municipal court to the charge of neglecting to make entry in his docket August 8, 1912, of the conviction of Richard Boesel, failure to make a report to the county treasurer, and to turn over to that official the fine collected by him from Richard Boesel, all in violation of Section 4772 of the Wisconsin statutes. District Attorney Stanley G. Dunwiddie appears as the complainant in the action. The plea of the defendant was entered through his attorney, Louis A. Avery, of the firm of Jeffris, Mount, Oestreich and Avery, who reserved the right to change the plea later if desired.

Trial of the action against Justice Smith was set for 10:30 o'clock Friday morning, March 28. The defendant was not able to furnish $500 bail required and unless it should be provided later will have to await his trial in jail. Smith was placed under arrest at Helenville Monday, after a week's search had been made for him. Smith denied that he was attempting to evade the officers.

WATERWORKS HEARING SET BY COMMISSION

CITY OFFICERS INFORMED THAT CASE WILL COME UP ON MAY 8.

VALUATION FOLLOWS

Compensation to be Paid and Terms of Sale to be Determined Upon By Rate Commission.

Hearing on the value of the plant of the Janesville Water Company, as a preliminary to the determination of the compensation to be paid for its purchase by the city of Janesville has been called by the Railway Commission of Wisconsin for May 8, 1913, at the office of the Commission. Notice to this effect has been served upon Mayor James A. Fathers, City Clerk J. P. Hammarlund, Attorneys Jeffris, Mount, Oestreich and Avery and the Janesville Water Company.

Notice of the hearing marks the completion of the valuation by the Commission's engineers, which has been in progress for several weeks. As a valuation was made within the year for the purpose of affording a basis for fixing rates, it remained to be done at the present time except to bring the valuation down to date, allow for depreciation, extensions of main, service pipes new equipment, etc. The text of the notice of hearing is given below:

Before the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin,
In the matter of the proposed purchase by the City of Janesville of the plant of the Janesville Water Company.

Notice of Hearing.
Whereas, on the third day of January, 1913, notice was filed with the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin by the proper authorities of the city of Janesville to the effect that at the general spring election held in the city on the second day of April, 1912, the vote of a majority of the electors voting thereon was cast in favor of the purchase and acquiring of the plant of the Janesville Water Company by the city of Janesville; and

Whereas, a resolution was passed by the common council of the city of Janesville, providing that the property of the Janesville Water Company be acquired by the city of Janesville; and

Whereas, the Janesville Water Company has consented to the taking over of its plant by the municipality by the acceptance of an indeterminate permit under the provisions Chapter 499 of the Laws of 1907, and acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto;

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that on the 8th day of May, 1913, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin in the Capitol in the city of Madison, Wisconsin, the said Commission will proceed to hold a hearing in the value of the plant of the Janesville Water Company, and following such hearing will by order fix and determine the compensation to be paid by the city of Janesville for the property of the Janesville Water Company actually used and useful for the convenience of the public; and the terms and conditions of such sale and purchase; at which time and place all parties interested are requested to be present and present such arguments and evidence as they may deem proper in the premises, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 499 of the Laws of 1907 and acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto.

Dated at Madison, Wisconsin, this 24th day of March 1913.
Railroad Commission of Wisconsin.

INCOME TAX REPORTS ARE DUE ON APRIL 1

Parties Not Reporting by That Date Are Liable to Penalties Imposed By Law.

According to the terms of the law all income tax reports must be sent to the assessor of incomes on or before April 1st, which leaves a very short time in which to make returns. Mr. Taylor announces that there are still a large number of Rock county taxpayers to be heard from.

Parties not reporting by the above date are liable to the penalties imposed by the law, which reads: "Section 1087m-123. Any person who fails or refuses to make a return at the time hereinbefore specified in each year or shall render a false or fraudulent return, shall, upon conviction, be fined not to exceed five hundred dollars to be imprisoned not to exceed one year, or both; at the discretion of the court, together with the costs of the prosecution."

While this may seem to be a very severe and arbitrary law, yet it could hardly be expected that the reports would be allowed to drift back to the assessor of incomes' office indefinitely. He has only a certain time in which to complete that part of his work; and if reports mailed to each person are not returned to him by April 1, it becomes his duty to enforce the penalties or assess the delinquent with such an amount as he may see fit.

INTERURBAN SURVEY HAS BEEN COMMENCED

Party Began Work Today North of City on East Side of River—President G. Peckard Here.

Preliminary survey for the projected Janesville-Edgerton interurban railway was commenced this morning by a party of four or five men in the employ of the Rogers Park Engineering and Construction Company. The chief engineer of the company is a member of the party. G. Peckard, president of the company, was in the city this morning, and will return before the end of the week to oversee the work. According to intimations made by promoters of the new line a short time ago the route will be from this city to Barker's Corners via the Edgerton road, then north on the county farm to the town line of Fulton, and thence in a north-westerly direction. The engineers were working near the stone quarry on the east side of the river this afternoon. If conditions are favorable it is believed that actual construction may be begun this year.

The popular demand for ready reference books as demonstrated by the very large call for the Gazette dictionary of which hundreds of volumes were placed in homes in Southern Wisconsin recently, decided the matter of offering the Cyclopedia to Gazette readers. A contract was entered into some weeks ago with the same publishers who supplied the dictionary and every statement made regarding the quality of the books can be relied upon implicitly.

The Gazette believes the public is deeply interested in matters pertaining to education, the trend of the times is for more definite knowledge and Everybody's Cyclopedia will come nearer filling the popular demand, placing, in fact, a set of ready reference books in the easy reach of every ambitious person, than any offering which has yet been made here.

MAIL ORDERS

The sets will be too bulky to be sent by mail, but out-of-town readers can have them for the $2.35, the set to be sent by express, shipping charges to be paid by the receiver.

The books are big, full octavo size, handsomely bound in English cloth. There are thousands of pages—hundreds of illustrations, full and double-page monotone and colors Dates, besides numerous colored charts found in no other reference books.

Our Guarantee

We will positively guarantee to refund the amount paid by any reader who finds after receiving Everybody's Cyclopedia that it is not entirely satisfactory and as represented.

BARABOO CITIZENS ASK TAX AMENDMENT FAVORING CIRCUSES

Amendment to Income Tax Law
Which Will Relieve Ringlings'
And Other Traveling Shows Urged in Committee.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., March 25.—Citizens of Baraboo and Sauk county, by petition and through representatives, asked the taxation and finance committee of the assembly yesterday to report favorably on the Carpenter bill which provides for the exemption of so much of the income of any person residing within this state, doing business both within and without the state, as is derived from business that is equipped, operated and maintained as a going concern outside of Wisconsin, when such business is conducted under specified conditions. The bill has special reference to circuses, although couched in general terms.

Baraboo is interested.
The discussion naturally centered on Ringling Bros.' circus, quartered at Baraboo. Attorney John M. Kelly and former Senator Frank Avery, now the Baraboo assessor, spoke for the bill.

Mr. Kelly said:
"Ringling Bros. have taken no part in this effort, which is primarily a move by the taxpayers of Baraboo and vicinity. The Ringlings are in favor of the income tax and its principles, but believe an exception in its operation is warranted. Other interests—the Gollmar Bros. and others who depend upon the circuses for business—are also affected. The Ringlings want to pay a tax, but they want it to be equitable. The tax they now pay is over half the net income of the show in the state of Wisconsin. They spend approximately $150,000 a year in Wisconsin, while their net income is less than $20,000 from this state. The Ringlings were out of the state when the tax was assessed, but came back on position of the people of Baraboo. The only reason why they stay and why they consent to spend in Wisconsin eight times their net income from this state is their loyalty to their home town where they were brought up."

Business Hazardous.
Mr. Kelly said the show is under the laws and protection of all the states in which they show for seven months in the year some of which exact taxes from the owners and get of which, through license fees, get a large revenue from the show. He denied that the circus was worth $80,000, the amount for which it is assessed, claiming that in the market it cannot bring more than a fraction of that sum. He cited the failure of the John Robinson shows last year as showing the great hazards in the circus business. As an educator and provider of wholesome amusement for young people, he called the modern circus an agency tending to counteract vice.

Assessor Avery said the Ringlings were assessed an income tax of $9,572 last year, and with exemptions their net taxes were about $7,800. Real estate taxes amounted to about $3,000 more. In view of the fact the show is in Wisconsin only about five months of the year, that they must pay taxes in nearly every city in the country which they visit, he believed an income tax of 6 percent was too high and created too great a burden. He was afraid, he said, that unless some modifications in the law were made, the show would stop short of Baraboo by 150 miles the next time it came back to winter.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

LET YOUR LIGHT SO SHINE.

I once heard a lecture by Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, the agnostic, in which he likened reason to a candle in the brain.

Frequently throughout his discourse he made effective use of the phrase:

"Let the little flame burn."

Character is also a flame that is held by those about us.

With some this flame burns high enough to be seen by a whole world; with others by an entire nation; with still others, and these are the vast majority, it is held only by their own communities.

With all, however, the flame of their character is visible to somebody.

This light has an influence on all who behold it.

This is but another way to say that we live not to ourselves alone.

And it is just as important relatively that the flame seen by a hundred be kept bright and shining as that witnessed by thousands or millions.

Some of these character candles burn redly and with much smoke; some sputter and flicker unevenly; some are blown this way and that by the winds of opinion; some are almost smothered by appetites and passions, and some burn steadily with a clear, white light. To a soul struggling in darkness the rays shed abroad by the good character of another are as welcome as the light in the window at night to the way-farer.

If not for our own sakes, then for the sake of others let us see that the gleam is not clouded and that it is far shining.

If the lighthouse keeper permitted his lamps to go out for an hour great ships might be lost.

In a way each of us is a lighthouse keeper. Even the glow from our tiny lamp may keep somebody from shipwreck.

Let the little flame burn.

"BROADWAY JONES."

"Broadway Jones," which comes to the Myers Theatre Friday evening, April 4, comes with the stamp of success on it, having been endorsed by every paper in New York as the greatest play that has been produced in years.

"Some people can live on Broadway all their lives, and never know what the place really is until they go and see Mr. Cohan's play, 'Broadway Jones.'" New York Tribune. This quotation explains how naturally Mr. Cohan has drawn the characters in his new play. There is a genuineness about this piece of stage writing that stamps it with sure success from the moment the curtain rises on the first act, and the fact that the progress of the play is accompanied by a moral lesson that is conveyed in an almost phere of almost constant laughter.

order to comply with the universal demand. The camera man has become one of the most important men in journalism, because the city editor has an insatiable desire for pictures. It is a great day for the illustrator. Probably this is one of the fundamental reasons for the tremendous popularity of Lyman H. Howe's Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, March 26 and 27, matinee Thursday. Here is an attraction that has caught the spirit of the age to a more satisfying degree than any other extent.

Realizing that the appeal to the eye is the charm that captures us from childhood to old age, Mr. Howe has combined art, science and industry to produce pictures that show not merely the form of life but likewise the vital force of action. This in itself doubles the delight of his pictures.

HENRY KOLKER IN "OUR WIVES," AT MYERS THEATRE
(Matinee and Night) SATURDAY, MARCH 29.

furnishes an appeal that is irresistible and altogether satisfying.

The company presenting the play here is an exceptionally strong one and includes John Webster, Ralph Morgan, Caroline Lill, George C. Stanley, Daniel Burns, Jack Pierce, Marie Taylor, Fred Maynard, Grace Morrissey, Edith Luckett, George K. Henry, Charles H. Henderson, Dore Rodgers and others.

"HOWE'S PICTURES TONIGHT."

We are instinctively children when it comes to the love of pictures. Give any adult a choice between a book with pictures and one without them, and the preference always is for the picture book. A few short years ago there was no newspaper in the country that did not have a picture. Today there are no newspapers that do not have a picture. Every publisher is striving more and more to tell news by means of pictures in but not satisfied to stop here, he now promises even the magnificent colors of nature simultaneously with form and movement. And he has made the whole world, with its wealth of mystery and beauty, his domain for subject matter. Nothing in the heavens above the earth, or on the face of the earth is hidden from the penetrating lenses of his cameras. They go everywhere. All persons who appreciate art, research in the realm of nature, industrial achievements, explorations and travels pay homage to Mr. Howe's pictures. All the myriad happenings of life, serious, solemn, humorous, sentimental are caught by his wizard photographers. Nothing is lost or alien to them, and their films are the embodiment of honesty. They cannot distort or misconstrue. They illumine the mind more than the most eloquent orator could.

Dinner Stories

Happy lovers were they, both devoted to dancing, both partakers of the joys of the annual village Cinderella. She was a beautiful, graceful, skilful dancer; he far less adept, with no control of his footsteps and little idea of rhythm. In point of fact, he was not so good at dancing as he led the lady to believe by his fervent descriptions of his prowess. Half way through the Cinderella the lady's beautiful gown was sadly torn, her dainty slippers were marks of a heavier tread. Her toes ached from the stampings like unto those of a Nasmyth hammer. Eventually she decided to give up in despair.

"I am so tired," she whispered. "Do let's sit out the rest of the dances."

But the swain was reluctant. "If I thought," he remarked, "you said you could die dancing."

"So I did," came the reply. "But I didn't say I wanted to be trampled."

DEDICATE NEW ORLEANS IMMIGRATION STATION

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New Orleans, La., March 25.—Second only to Ellis Island, in size and the completeness of its equipment, is the new Federal immigration station which is to be formally dedicated here tomorrow. No expense has been spared by the Government in providing a magnificent group of buildings in which to receive and examine the new-comers from foreign lands. Officials from Washington will attend the dedication and among the other participants in the exercises will be Governor Hall of Louisiana and the immigration and agricultural commissioners of numerous Southern states who are holding a conference here.

SEEKS TO PREVENT SALE OF TOBACCO TO CHILDREN

Madison, March 25.—Senator Teasdale advocated a favorable report before the public welfare committee yesterday for his bill forbidding the sale of tobacco to persons under the age of 16 years. The bill was also supported by Mrs. M. A. B. Smith of Madison.

The Reason.
"Pa, why are you so angry?" "I suppose they are like people, and are angry because somebody is trying to cross them."

The Cause of Rheumatism.
Stomach trouble, lazy liver and de-ranged kidneys are the cause of rheumatism. Get your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels in healthy condition by taking Electric Bitters, and you will not be troubled with the pains of rheumatism. Charles B. Allen, a school principal, of Sylvania, Ga., who suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys, writes: "All remedies failed until I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Maybe your rheumatic pains come from your stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Electric Bitters will give you prompt relief. 50c and $1.00. Recommended by People's Drug Store.

Fort Scott Witticism.
At a recent banquet in Fort Scott, the Tribune says, a man was called upon to make a speech. Of course he was surprised that he should be asked to talk, but he was equal to the occasion, and he stood up and said: "Gentlemen, you have been eating a turkey stuffed with sage, now you will listen to a sage stuffed with turkey." Everybody laughed, and the man immediately became known as a famous wag, and the mot is highly esteemed in those parts.—Kansas City Star.

Worth Remembering.
"You have never suffered from financial reverses?" "No," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "Finance is like dancing. When the market turns around and goes the other way you must reverse with it."

New Idea in Education.
The moving picture has been introduced as a permanent feature of the German schools. Films for courses of bacteriology, anatomy and biology are already available in that country.

Best-Known Cough Remedy.
For forty-three years Dr. King's New Discovery has been known throughout the world as the most reliable cough remedy. Over three million bottles were used last year. Isn't this proof? It will get rid of your cough, or we will refund your money. J. J. Owens, of Allendale, S. C., writes the way hundreds of others have done: "After twenty years, I find that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and colds that I have ever used." For coughs or colds and all throat and lung troubles, it has no equal. 50c and $1.00 at People's Drug Store.

Lawrence College in Protest at Extension of Courses of State Normal Schools.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., March 26.—The small colleges of the state are protesting against the Hull bill empowering each of the normal schools to so extend their courses as to provide for four years of college work. The bill also authorizes them to grant degrees. Every member of the legislature received a letter today from Lawrence college at Appleton in which the argument is made that such a departure would constitute an unnecessary competition with the work of the small colleges and not only impair their existence.

"The colleges of Wisconsin now have over 2,200 students in their collegiate departments," says the letter, "and report themselves able to take care of 3,500 without materially increasing their equipment. The university can accommodate many more. Doubtless 2,500 students can be taken care of by existing institutions, and there is absolutely no call for the state to develop additional colleges."

The letter points out that the developments of nine new colleges would prove a great burden of expense. The circular argues that this would take the normals out of the scope of educational work laid out for them to do.

FAMOUS AMERICAN INDIANS

ALBERT PATSON TERNUM

KING PHILIP.

The little Puritan colony at Nantucket was aghast at a murder just committed within its borders.

A boastful Indian—either drunk or else relying on the protection of the settlers—had spoken evil of the dead Pokanoket sachem, Massasoit. Now, by ancient Indian law it was mortal sin to speak ill of the dead. And it was the duty of the "next of kin" to avenge the words by death.

And, in this case, the next of kin chanced to be the sachem's son and successor, Metacombet, known to the white men as "King Philip." No one imagined Philip would dare outrage English laws by obeying so barbarous a custom. Yet he appeared at Nantucket one day in 1665, slew the Indian who had insulted his father's memory, and returned unpunished to his own people. This was the sachem's first open defiance of white men's law. Soon the land was red with his deeds. He was fated to fall as his first victim had just fallen, beneath the hand of an avenging "next of kin."

The Avenger and His Crime.

Massasoit had been sachem of the mighty Pokanoket tribe that owned all the land from Narragansett Bay to Massachusetts. He was friendly to the Pilgrims who landed at Plymouth, Mass., in 1620, and made a solemn peace treaty with them. He even begged them to give English names to his two sons, Namsuttu and Metacombet. Accordingly the youths were renamed "Alexander" and "Philip." When Massasoit died Alexander, the elder son, became sachem. Alexander was accused of plotting against the English and was arrested. Then he died from a sudden illness and the Indians declared the white men had poisoned him.

Philip became sachem. He had a heritage of bitter hatred against the English. Not only did he believe they had murdered his brother, but he had watched with growing dread the way in which they were robbing the Indians of their land. We are wont to think of our Puritan ancestors as saintly folk. In some respects, perhaps, they were. But in their treatment of the simple, friendly Indians their claim to sanctity receives a severe shock. On one pretense or another they seized, bought at ridiculously cheap price, or otherwise secured huge tracts of the savages' land, until at last Philip found himself and his once mighty tribe cooped up in two little tongues of land at Bristol and Tiverton, R. I. Yet, for a time, Philip held firm to the treaties his father had made. He lived at Montauk (pronounced by the English "Mount Hope"), near Bristol, and ruled his sadly restricted people as best he could.

But the old friendly feeling between white man and Indian was daily merging into mutual hate and suspicion. In 1674 a renegade Indian bore word to the settlers—whether falsely or truthfully—that Philip was planning war. The Puritans at once forced matters to such an issue that Philip found it necessary either to fight or lose what little authority he had left. He sent the women and children of his tribe for protection to his allies, the Narragansetts, summoned all his available warriors, and took the field.

On Sunday, June 30, 1675, while the inhabitants of Swansea, not far from Plymouth, were at church, Philip and his band swept down upon the town. There was a wholesale killing and burning. The war was on. Next Philip attacked the town of Hadley, but was beaten back. It is said, through the generalship of a mysterious white-haired man (supposed to William Goffe, the regicide), who rallied the colonists to a brave defense. Soon afterward, at the battle of Bloody Brook, Philip's men slew seventy-three Puritan soldiers. But while the Indians were scalping their victims English reinforcements came up and routed them. Philip led his murderous savages through the Connecticut valley, leaving ruin, death and desolation in his path, burning and sacking Springfield, Northfield and Brookfield, and massacring the inhabitants of outlying hamlets.

The Fate of Two Mighty Tribes.

The colonists, however, rallied gallantly, nearly exterminated his allies, the Narragansetts, and at last cooped Philip and his remaining followers in the swamps near Mount Hope. They captured his wife and little son and sold them into slavery in the West Indies. Such of his valiant followers as they caught they also sold as slaves. Of the great tribes of the Pokanokets and Narragansetts combined, less than 150 persons were left alive. Philip, with a mere handful of men, hid in a marsh near the village where he had once reigned as king.

So safely was he hidden that the pursuing colonists could not find him. Then it was that an Indian whose brother Philip had put to death offered to guide the soldiers to the fugitive "king's" headquarters. The troops burst in upon Philip's little band at dead of night, on August 12, 1676. Their Indian guide, obeying the vengeance law of the "next of kin," shot Philip dead. The slain sachem's body was cut to pieces by the English and his severed head carried in triumph on a pole to Plymouth.

Philip had tried to stand against the march of progress. With his life he had paid the penalty.

Many a man's self-conceit overshadows his popularity.

C. L. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

208 Upper Front St.

Exeter, N. H., May 27, 1912.

"Gentlemen:—It is with the sincere purpose of benefiting others I write what Hood's Sarsaparilla did for me.

"On getting up one morning I found what seemed to be a mosquito bite on the cut of my right leg. Soon the eruption grew larger and continued day after day, becoming more and more troublesome. The physician advised poulticing, and I soon found I had a running sore. It ate steadily into the flesh, discharged freely, and grew worse. Another physician told me to use a rubber bandage, but the sore grew worse until

There Was Not a Spot of Healthy Skin as Large as a 10ct. Piece

Between My Knee and Ankle.

My leg was now a dreadful sight. There were places large and deep enough to hold an egg. I was told the leg must be amputated. The specialist said he had seen many bad sores, but none equal to mine.

"One day a neighbor, Mrs. Buckley, spoke of the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofula, and I said 'I don't think such a simple thing as Hood's Sarsaparilla would do me any good.' But my husband joined in urging me to try Hood's, and as he bought a bottle, I thought I might as well take it. Before I finished that first bottle, I suffered less pain and could see the edges of the sore beginning to heal. As I kept on with the medicine, my flesh formed, the raw surface diminished, and after using ten bottles the Sore Was Completely Healed and My General Health Perfect.

I am able to work every day, weigh 175 pounds, my leg never gives me any trouble, and I use it the same as the other. I believe it my duty to tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla did for me, and I praise it to all my friends." Mrs. Josephine Sargent.

Having cured such a tenacious case of scrofulous impurity as that described above, and it has cured many other cases, is certainly to be relied upon for all troubles caused or promoted by impure or low state of the blood.

Men

Are you meeting with the success in the commercial or industrial fields to which you are justly entitled? Do you go to work with a clear mind, steady nerves and a body recharged with vitality?

Or are you hampered with a dozen and one difficulties, both mental and physical, that are holding you down and make work a daily grind? Whatever the reason of your inability to reach the highest success, the real fundamental cause lies in YOU, and it behooves you to take inventory of your mental and physical resources and begin NOW to build up and maintain bodily vigor.

Let the Chiropractor examine your Spine, remove Nerve Pressure and Nature will bring you the mental force and physical power that you daily require; and make your work a joy and pleasure.

Notice the enlarged portion of the spinal column, showing two nerves, the upper one a healthy nerve, the lower one "pinched" by the vertebrae being thrown out of position. This produces pressure on the nerve. Be wise and have the pressure removed.

Women

Many a woman today is suffering untold misery from troubles peculiar to her sex. This condition is caused by an interference with Nerve Functions supplying the organ or organs diseased. Do not despair until you have given the Chiropractor an opportunity to demonstrate that Nature can and does cure when pressure on nerves is removed.

Another point regarding Chiropractic that will interest women is the freedom that they have in consulting a Chiropractor in reference to their troubles, as they do not have to submit to any examination other than the simple baring of the spine so that the adjustment may be given. A kimono or other garment slipped on backward being the only requisite necessary. This is all done in the strictest privacy.

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

A REWARD OF MERIT.

VIRTUE, says the copy-book, is its own reward. On the whole I am inclined to think that is lucky, when I see how often it fails of any other reward.

That sounds pessimistic, doesn't it? Well, listen to the following dialogue with me, and I think you'll understand what I mean. Two women at a church function were arranging some lemonade glasses which had been loaned for the occasion. Said one woman, "Take special care of those glasses with the wreath on them. You know Mrs. R. loaned those; she's a perfect tartar and said he terribly disagreeable if anything happened to them. You'd better not let the younger girls touch those."

Said the other woman, "I think those with the monogram are much prettier. Who loaned them?" "Oh, those are Mrs. R.'s," said the first speaker. "You'd better give them to the younger girls, Mrs. R. is so sweet, you know, she wouldn't make a fuss if they broke a whole dozen!"

How's that for a reward of merit? As a special premium for her disagreeable manner, the tartar lady had special care given to her glasses, and undoubtedly received specially elaborate thanks.

While the other woman was rewarded for her sweetness and forbearance by having her property handed over to the tender mercies of the least trustworthy waitresses.

And yet isn't that a thoroughly typical case? Don't we all have a tendency to handle with care those people who are disagreeably cautious of their rights, and to take unfair advantage of those who are good tempered and unselfish?

It is usually the disagreeable member of the family who receives the most attention, and whose paths are made pleasant for him by the sacrifices of the rest; while the most kind-hearted and generous member of the family is the one most put upon.

In the dormitory in which I lived at college, there was one girl so sweet tempered and unselfish that her name was a synonym for these qualities, and yet, instead of treating her especially well, many of the other girls made a convenience of her and then laughed at her behind her back for letting them do it.

And so, if you reckon in terms of appreciation and gratitude, it does not seem as if unselfishness and sweetness of temper paid.

Isn't it fortunate that there are some people in the world who think these qualities are worth while even if they don't pay?

of disease.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Could you tell me how to take stains out of cloth? How can I bleach cloth?

HOUSEWIFE. I would need to know the nature of the stain, to give the best remedy for it. Javelle water will take the stain out of any white goods. It will also bleach. It can be bought at the drug store or you can make it at home.

Get 1 lb. washing soda, 1 qt. boiling water, 1-2 lb. chloride of lime, 2 qts. cold water. Put soda into auge and add boiling water. Dissolve lime in cold water. Let mixture settle and pour the clear liquid into dissolved soda. Bottle and keep in dark place.

Apply a few drops of this to a stain, following immediately with boiling water. Continue until stain is gone. Be sure to rinse well, as otherwise it will rot goods.

To bleach, wash goods in a solution of Javelle Water, rinse well and hang in the sun to dry. In the last rinsing water add a little ammonia to take away the smell of chloride of lime.

Dear Mrs. Thompson. (1)—I would like to know how to develop the bust without any harm. (2)—Should a girl ask a boy to call or should the boy make the first start? (3)—What is a good way to tie of dandruff? (4)—Should young men you know tip their hats when you meet them? GLADYS.

(1)—You can massage the bust gently with cocoa butter, but it will do more good to breathe deep, get a lot of fresh outdoors air, hold your chin and chest high and your stomach in, swing your arms when you walk and eat a lot of nourishing food. (2)—She can say she would be pleased to have him call at her home. (3)—Keep the hair brush and comb scrupulously clean, massage the scalp well, and every other day gently rub a few drops of kerosene on the scalp. (4)—A man should lift his hat upon meeting any girl or lady he knows.

INVALID COOKERY.

In cooking eggs for those who are ill, it is of utmost importance that they should not be toughened.

They may be cooked from the very soft to the hard stage by using the simple method of boiling water. Allow a pint to an egg, cover the dish and keep in a warm place. If wanted hard, leave the egg thirty minutes; if wanted soft, take out in eight to ten minutes; if liked medium, take out at the end of fifteen minutes.

Egg baked in cream is a very appetizing manner of cooking an egg. Place a tablespoonful of cream in a small ramekin, drop in the egg, season with butter and salt and set in the oven long enough to cooie the egg.

Beat the white of an egg until stiff, season with salt and drop the white on a piece of buttered toast, making a nest, then place the yolk in the center and season. Put into the oven for a few minutes to just set the egg.

Shirred Egg.—Mix together an eighth of a cup of bread crumbs and a half tablespoonful of butter; stir until well mixed. Cover the bottom of an egg shirrer or ramekin with the buttered crumbs, break in an egg, sprinkle with salt, cover with more crumbs, and set in the oven to cook until the white is set.

Coddled Egg.—Scald a third of a cup of milk, add one egg beaten slightly, cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until a soft, creamy consistency, then season with salt and a dash of cayenne. Serve with toast points or fingers.

Sometimes dainty bread and butter sandwiches will be eaten with relish when bread with butter would be refused.

Do not thoughtlessly stir up strife, for in the end you will be the victim. Later you may need those whom you now consider lightly. Take care of your health and the year will hold much for you to enjoy.

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN
by Barbara Boyd

American Fashions for Americans

SEE," said the clubwoman, "an effort is being made this season to introduce American fashions."

"Whoever is doing it is making a mistake right in the start," replied the other clubwoman, "in calling them American fashions. Label them French and they'll go, no matter how hideous they are; but call them American, and they'll lag, no matter how pretty."

"You've no patriotism," said the other. "The word 'American' plays quite as important a part in the effort, as the word 'fashions!'"

"That's a very beautiful ideal. But you know very well you would not wear a hideous dress just because it was designed in America, when you could wear an attractive one designed in France. No woman would."

"No," admitted the other, slowly, "but still woman's sense of responsibility in such things is beginning to wake a little. Look what the Consumers' League is accomplishing. Women are refusing to buy cheap, sweatshop work in order to insure a healthful environment for workers. Besides these American fashions are to be prettier and smarter than the French ones."

"There's no reason why they shouldn't be," replied the other. "And if they are, then American women should stand by them and put them solidly on their feet. It does not seem to me it would require much effort to beat the French fashions. I think, at present, they are largely designed by degenerates. To me, there seems to be a decided decadence in French taste. It runs to the debasing. Besides, the American woman is quite different from her French sister, and the conditions of the American woman's life are not at all like the French woman's environment. And a dress that would truly express the American woman's individuality, would differ in many ways from the French. And I think dress should express individuality. In spite of what I said at first, I shall be glad to see American fashions. And if they are as simple, as independent, and as charming as the American woman is at her best, I predict a tremendous success for them."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The Table.

Spanish Steak—Three pounds flank or round steak, put into dripping pan and season. Add one can tomatoes, one good-sized onion, put back in slow oven about 1 1/2 hours. Serve hot.

Fried Eggs, French Way.—Fry eggs usual way; put them on a plate, take two tablespoon thick cream, one of vinegar, put in a skillet, heat until hot, pour over the eggs and send to the table at once.

Ham and Eggs.—Prepare slices of nice lean smoked ham, cut up in pieces the size to be served. Put on stove in cold water and let boil 20 minutes, to freshen. Then drain and put into good-sized flat granite pan.

So each piece lays on bottom. Cover with fresh sweet milk, some small pieces of butter and a very little salt and pepper. Put in hot oven about one-half hour, then draw out pan and break the required number of fresh eggs on top of ham, and put back in oven for 10 minutes. Serve very hot. Best to heat dish to be served in. Very delicious.

Pancakes Mixed at Night.—About one pint sour, or buttermilk, one-half teaspoon salt, flour to make medium thin batter (part corn flour may be used.) Beat this up at night and in morning add one teaspoon soda. They are much nicer this way, besides saving time in the morning. I never use eggs and have often been complimented on my fine cakes.

Heavenly Hash.—Fill dish with slices of banana, orange, pineapple and fruit desired. Make a jelly of one package gelatin, one pint cold water, juice of two lemons and enough pineapple juice to flavor. Let stand one hour, then add two pints sugar, two pints boiling water; strain over the fruit, let it get cold and serve with whipped cream.

Lemon Cream Pie—Crust: Two-thirds cup sifted flour, pinch of salt, two tablespoons lard and four tablespoons cold water. Rub flour, salt and lard well together, add water and roll thin. Line a deep pie tin with the dough and bake.

Filling: Put 1-2 cups sweet milk in double boiler; when boiling add (mixed together) two tablespoons cornstarch and one cup sugar, juice and grated rind of one lemon, yolks of two eggs, a little salt, and one-half cup cold water. Add to boiling milk and cook until thick, stirring often. Pour into crust and cool a little.

Beat the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth, add two tablespoons sugar, a little salt and one teaspoon vanilla and brown in a quick oven. Serve very cold.

DAINTY MODEL OF BORDERED MATERIAL.

Dainty model exceptionally good for bordered material or embroidery finishing. Wide lace edging is mounted beneath the scalloped edges of the material. The bodice is draped in cape effect over a bloused foundation. Sections of tulle are draped along the surplice opening. The girdle of corn-yellow satin is finished by cluster of roses. The short under-sleeves are mounted to the under-bodice. The skirt has a diagonally cut tunic edged with the lace.

Recover Stolen Tombstone.

A stolen tombstone was unearthed during excavations following a recent fire in a shop in Girvan (Ayr). The workmen dug out a tombstone in an excellent state of preservation, bearing the following inscription: "By Anthony Campbell, Saddler, in Memory of His Daughter, Jean. Died July 1st, 1826, Aged 18 Years and Six Months." It is believed that the stone was stolen from the old Girvan churchyard and converted into a hearthstone, a quite common occurrence in the early days of the nineteenth century.—London Mail.

Strange.

"Do you think there is anything unlucky about the number thirteen?" "I know there is. I paid that for a suit of clothes once, and they did not wear well at all."

QUIT CALOMEL

Thousands Are Turning From This Dangerous Drug.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute Is Olive Tablets for the Liver

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Ohio, has discovered a new laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials, mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like the old and untrustworthy calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects of calomel.

Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers.

His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him years ago towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he is today in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, Olive-oil calomel tablet.

The results of 17 years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets.

They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They oil the bowels, and their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

They are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities. 10c and 25c per box.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Last winter I became engaged to a young man I have known three years. He lives in another town. He always sent me flowers on such days as Easter, Valentine, etc., but last Valentine's day he sent nothing.

Should a fellow send more flowers and write often if he is engaged, or does he think he's got you now and doesn't need to be so attentive? He doesn't write often—says he doesn't like to write.

He's very nice to me whenever I visit there and his parents are very nice to me.

Do you think he wants to break the engagement by not sending flowers or writing often? Should I return the ring and presents and should I write and ask him if he intends to break our engagement or why he doesn't write? ANNA.

Most men do not like to write letters, my dear, and your fiance is probably no exception to the rule. Perhaps you have been writing him too often. Give him a letter only for each one he sends you and don't make it too effusive.

I don't think he wants to break the engagement. He probably forgot St. Valentine's day. I wouldn't be surprised if he was extra busy preparing plans for your home together in the near future. Be patient and trust him a little.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are girls of 13 and our boy and girl friends say we should play games the majority want to play. We still play all other games the majority want to play. We will play all other games but kissing games and we think they are very rude. What is your opinion? TWO CHIRPS.

Dear little girls, I am glad you are particular. You will make splendid women. Kissing games are always in bad taste. They also spread the germs

You Should Enjoy Your Meals

One of the Important Questions to Consider in the Search for Happiness and Health.

If your stomach can not digest your food, what will? Where's the relief? The answer is in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Because, as all stomach troubles arise from indigestion and because one ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is able to thoroughly and completely digest 3,000 grains of food, doesn't it stand to reason that these tablets are going to digest all the food and whatever food you put into your stomach?

You Can Eat With the Appetite of a Lusty Youngster, if You Help Your Stomach.

Science nowadays can digest food without having it enter the stomach at all. And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the result of this scientific discovery. They digest and digest thoroughly and well, anything and everything you eat.

The burning question to you is, "Are you getting out of life all the pleasure and the health you are entitled to?" If not, why not?

No matter whether every organ and member of your body is in a sound state of health and strength, if your stomach is in any way disordered, you are not going to be "yourself." You are going to be a worried, out-of-sorts, nervous or sullen individual, whose actions will reflect your condition inside, and people will naturally avoid you.

So, if your stomach refuses to work or can't work, and you suffer from eruptions, blot, rash, fermentation, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn, irritation, indigestion, or dyspepsia of whatever form, just take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and see the difference. It doesn't cost you much to prove it. Then you can eat all you want, what you want, whenever you want, if you use these tablets; and you can look the whole world in the face with a beaming eye and you will have a cheerful spirit, a pleasant face, a vigorous body and a clear mind and memory and everything will look and taste delicious to you. That's life.

Get a 50 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store.

GUIDE TO SELECTION OF CHILDREN'S BOOKS

Interesting Collection on Display at Janesville Public Library—Suggestions Valuable.

An interesting collection of recent books dealing with the selection of books for the children is now on display at the public library. Illustrations, authors and publishers are discussed as caterers to the needs of the little ones, and many hints are given for the guidance of teachers and parents in their choice of books to read or tell to their charges. The best books of all sorts are listed, and even our old friends, the fairy tales, are considered for their ethical influence and Cinderella is, as always, the favorite for the teaching of virtue.

A particularly interesting book for parents or harassed relatives at birthday times is Olcott's Children's Reading, which goes fully into the matter of purchasing for children. A few of the books exhibited are:

Bryant, Stories to tell to children; Field, Fifty poems to children's reading; Fisher, A Montessori mother; Key, Century of the child; Lyman, Story telling; Moses, Children's books and reading; Olcott, Children's reading; Wiggin, Children's rights.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

CAPTAIN JOHN SMITH.
(By Howard L. Rann.)

CAPT. JOHN SMITH was one of the few Englishmen who came over to this country three hundred years ago and liked it well enough to stay. It was quite a lad with wealthy Englishmen to run over to America, sink out a few million acres of land and then succumb to the native mosquito, but Capt. Smith liked it here and planted a colony at Jamestown, Virginia, which has stayed where he put it ever since. He also planted several thousand Indians where they would not annoy tourists by inserting arrows in them.

Capt. Smith had a fatal gift of beauty which saved his life on numerous occasions. The historian Macaulay states that he was the only high shaped man who could wear a high starched collar. The look of deep piety shown in his face and which was once captured by the Turks and would have been drawn and quartered in the course and unfeeling manner characteristic of that people had it not been for a Turkish sultan weighing 210 pounds, who interested for him.

One of the first persons Capt. Smith met on coming to this country was an Indian chief named Powhatan, who was roaming around looking for some new ideas in scalp. Powhatan did not like Capt. Smith's looks and told him so in his plain, blunt style. Powhatan was a bloodthirsty savage and came within one-eighth of an inch of strewing Smith's brains and a new, sharp run around the suburbs of Jamestown, when his daughter Pocahontas rushed in and announced that she was about to marry the captive, Capt. Smith had never been introduced to Pocahontas and didn't know what her first name was or what set she belonged to and when he got a good look at her he told Powhatan that he guessed they might as well proceed with the ceremony, but Powhatan spared his life and Smith escaped soon after without having to take out a marriage license.

The two achievements with which the name of Capt. Smith will always be inseparably connected are his discovery of the domestic codfish in 1614 and his invention of the Smith family. The visible supply of codfish has waned considerably, but there are still plenty of Smiths left to go around.

"Go up, thou baldhead!" cried the boys, who jeered the prophet, shy of hairs; that prophet weary of their noise, called up his private troupe of bears; the bruins fell upon the lads and ate them down, as cows eat hay, suspenders, boots and liver pads; the prophet smiled and went his way. The prophets of these modern times don't take their string of bears.

UGH! NOT CALOMEL, OIL OR SALTS, BUT DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Give Your Stomach, Liver and 30 Feet of Bowels a Thorough Cleansing Without Gripe or Nausea. Ends Headache, Biliousness, Indigestion and Constipation.

This wonderful fruit laxative acts as a liver and bowel cleanser—tonic—not as an irritant. Its action is natural and gentle—no gripping. It is delicious—no greasy. It is positive and prompt—no waiting.

If your stomach is sour and filled with vile gases, your head aches, or you are bilious, nervous, dizzy, half sick, your tongue coated, your thirty feet of bowels clogged with waste not surely carried off—don't wait. Surely take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs tonight, and in the morning all constipated waste, sour bile, gases and poisons will move on and out of the system, gently but thoroughly—no gripping—no nausea—no weakness. In the old days people let these matters run until they needed a large dose of physic, then they took something severe, like castor oil, salts or cathartics, that meant abuse to the bowels. These are the days of the gentle and natural—Syrup of Figs. This way you are not drugging yourself. Syrup of Figs, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, can not cause injury.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look for the name, California Fig Syrup Company on the label. This is the genuine—old reliable. Any other so-called Fig Syrup is an imitation often meant to deceive you. Refuse such with contempt.

"Only officers were favored in Liberty prison, and most of the time there were from 1,500 to 2,000 motley, ragged, pale faced men pining there, cramped and squalid and liable to be shot down ruthlessly if they crossed a 'dead line' within two or three feet of the barred windows. Some of these poor fellows listlessly carved chudaxes and wooden toys with their jackknives; others played cards squatted on the floor or checked on boards marked off in rude squares on these same rough, unswept planks. All hoped against hope and conversed endlessly on two topics—'exchange' and 'escape.' Letters from home were rare, gifts and provisions still rarer. Nevertheless some fortuitous combination of

Playing Cards For Scraps of Tobacco, circumstances and outcropping of ordinary human kindness did on certain memorable occasions permit a suit of clothes or a box of sweets and other creature comforts to escape Confederate confiscation and get past the draw-bridge of the military bastille.

One of these occasions that brought reasonable rejoicings to a certain lot of Libby occurred just before the date of national Thanksgiving, in the latter part of November. The blood red rays of sunset were streaming through the one small, high, grated window that lighted a bare room where some men were dejectedly playing cards for scraps of tobacco, while others sat around on rough benches and watched or smoked or dozed. One who was either sick or wounded lay on a couch, with a coarse blanket over him. Two or three of the card players joined their unmelodious voices in crooning an old fashioned Methodist hymn.

"That's right, boys," said the hymn leader, an unctuous looking fiddler whom they addressed sometimes as "chaplain" and again as "deacon," "cheer up a bit. If you can't be cheerful, be as cheerful as you can. Think—think of your heavenly home."

"Too far off," muttered Captain Cox, a Kentuckian.

"Well, then, think of your earthly home—of the apple trees in blossom when you left it, of the afternoon sunlight falling on it this minute out there in Kentucky or Ohio or wherever it is. Mine's in Indiana, thank God! I remember when I was—"

"Deacon," protested the sick man, "I'm not feeling very chipper today."

"Oh, you'll come round all right. Tomorrow's Thanksgiving. As I was saying—"

"That's what poor Ralph's afraid of, deacon," interposed Captain Cox. "Monotony is what's killing him, and I'll leave it to you if the novelty isn't long since worn off these endless reminiscences of the time when you used to be—"

"Rear admiral on the Wabash coast," chimed the choros.

"All right, boys, poke all the fun at me you like, snipe me on the other cheek. You know I'm meek and lowly. Damn this hand of cards anyway. But with all your outerness I'll bet $5 news of you can tell how we used to take in sail out there on the Wabash, eh?"

"Well, sir, they go out aloft on the towpath and knock down a mile."

"Ho, ho! How's that, Ralph?" laughed Cox, rising and going over to the sick man's couch. "Come, brighten up. Are you sick in mind too?"

Hunt sighed impatiently. "Deacon Hart called again."

"Look on the bright side, what may happen any minute. Suppose, first thing you know, you get called out and exchanged, just as soon as our army captures some of the Johnnies. If it ever does. Then you can go home on crutches, and the neighbors'll bring in a dozen different things at once to kill or cure you."

"I don't seem to care about anything," said Ralph Hunt, gloomily. "If I can't die on the field it may as well be here as anywhere else."

"It's a good thing I'm here to give you spiritual counsel," interjected Deacon Hart, turning away from his cards for a second. "Oh, is it my deal?"

CHAPTER VIII.

Libby Prison.

CAPTAIN COX sat beside Hunt's couch and conversed with him in low, earnest tones.

"There are other places," said he, "besides the field of battle, where a man can be brave."

"Oh, no doubt," was the bitter reply. "You find it easy to keep up your courage when I am in despair."

"What do you mean?"

"You know. We were boys together, and I have always put up with second best. You've always stood in front of me. Tom Cox—at school, at sport, in business, in love."

"Tell me one thing," urged Cox. "Have I ever played you false?"

"No, you haven't. You haven't needed to. Your 'cursed' fatal good luck does it all for you."

"Now you talk like a whining child."

"No, I don't. At this moment your heart's inmost thought is identical with mine. Marie Mason—great God! How my heart beats at the speaking of that name! Marie—she was the one woman in all the world to me. Why did you cross my path there, too, when it was as sure as fate that her preference would fall on you?"

"If it was fate, what's the use of talking about it now?" retorted Cox doggedly. "And to what avail to either of us now can that girl's favor be? You know she is an irrevocable southerner, like all the rest of her family. You know that I came out for the Union, as you did, when the first gun was fired on Sumter. Perhaps you don't know, but I will tell you now, that when I left Lexington she—Marie Mason—said she would rather see me lying dead on the battlefield wearing the southern gray than marching against her people in the blue uniform of the north. That was our parting. Well, you and I have drunk from the same canteen. We have fought side by side in the same battles; we have both won our captain's swords—and lost them. Now, in misfortune, we are still together. And yet, on the petty pretext of disparity in our lots, you would banish the one ray of sunshine penetrating these prison walls—our old comradeship."

"You are well and strong. I am ill," pleaded Hunt.

"I don't forget that, either," murmured Cox, softening.

"I've talked too much, I suppose. It's all over now. Here's my hand, if you will take it."

Cox did not take it immediately, but answered:

"It's all right, Ralph. Only give me a little time to get over it, for you cut deep, old fellow."

At this moment a sudden silence fell, and a general movement and whisper made themselves manifest. Enter Captain Jackson Warner, the prison commissary.

"Evening, Yanks," was his gruff but not unkindly greeting. "What devilry are you up to now?"

"Talking over old times and old comrades, captain, that's all," replied Cox gently.

"Well, you may have an opportunity of seeing some more of them 'ere old comrades of yours, I reckon, before long."

"What? Are we going to get out?"

"No; they're coming in here. I suppose you've heard the news?"

At those words a young lieutenant who had sat silently in an opposite corner reading a copy of the Richmond Dispatch weeks old, threw down the paper and listened attentively.

"Let us know the worst, Captain Warner," urged Cox. "We're used to it—haven't got feelings any more, you know. What's the news?"

"Oh, some more fighting in the valley, you know. Yanks licked out of their boots again, as usual. More prisoners, more hard luck stories."

"What's that?" cried Deacon Hart. "Another fight? More prisoners? Oh, Lord!"

"You're on the religious, aren't you?" inquired the commissary scoffingly.

"I'm a shouting Methodist these forty years, thank the Lord!" answered the deacon, holding his hand of cards behind his back.

"Well, your shouting hasn't benefited Abe Lincoln nor yourself very much so far. You'd better swing around and pray for Jeff Davis, I reckon, and be on the safe side."

"Never, till this right hand"—putting out his left with the cards, then jerking it back and holding up the right—"shall lose its cunning."

"Oh, go ahead, deacon, and pray for Jeff Davis if they want you to," suggested Cox. "He'll need it before this war's over."

"You can talk with your friends just from the front about that," retorted Warner gruffly. "Here's one of 'em coming upstairs now."

A measured tramp was heard approaching outside. The commissary opened the door, and the new Union prisoner was marched in between two guards. He saluted and introduced himself.

"Gentlemen, permit me. I am Colonel Cogswell of the Forty-second New York."

"The Tammany regiment of New York city?" exclaimed Lieutenant Deacon, sotto voce.

Captain Cox returned the newcomer's salute and responded:

"We have heard of you, colonel, and we are right proud to meet you. My comrades here are Captain Hunt of Kentucky, Chaplain Hart of Indiana and Lieutenant Bedloe, from—why, from your own state, I believe. I am Captain Cox of the Tenth Kentucky."

Colonel Cogswell shook hands all around and said:

"I am fortunate to have the honor of sharing your quarters. I don't suppose you find it exactly lonesome here."

"The place is quite populous. It seems as if the fortunes of war had plucked out the flower of our army to plug away in infernal holes like this. Oh, for an hour of action!"

"Just wait till the exchange," said the hopeful Hart. "With a dozen men like us they might redeem a whole Confederate regiment."

"I understand," said Ralph Hunt gloomily. "That their idea is to get the well kept Confederate prisoners back from the Union camps and send us as living skeletons in exchange."

"Do you think, Colonel Cogswell," asked Cox, "that things are going so badly with us in the valley and elsewhere as they try to make out?"

"Yes, and a sight worse, I should say, at the present moment."

"Then," interposed Hart tragically, "all is lost save honor."

The colonel drew himself up proudly, glanced around to make sure that the commissary and guard had retired, then with a superb dramatic gesture opened the coat of his uniform, which had been tightly buttoned up to his chin, and displayed the stars and stripes wrapped around his body.

"Not all lost, sir. Our colors, by God!"

The prisoners rushed forward, their eyes bulging and cheeks glowing with patriotic ardor. Even poor Hunt rose excitedly from his couch.

"Three cheers, boys," cried Cox. "All together—let her go!"

They gave a rousing round of cheers that brought Captain Warner rushing back into the room.

"Come, come, gentlemen! Remember where you are. This ain't Washington. What are you feeling so orbery about?"

"We were just welcoming an old friend," explained Cox.

"And, besides, cap," interposed Hart, "ain't this Thanksgiving eve? How about them pumpkin pies we ordered and paid for in good United States money?"

"That's a fact," answered the commissary. "Well, the cook tackled 'em, according to directions. They ought to be pretty nigh done by this time. Queer grub, that."

At this juncture the door opened and immediately a joyous commotion ensued.

"Pie, pie! Oh, pumpkin pie! Attention, all! Salute the pastry! Let the noble pumpkin approach its doom with military honors."

The prisoners drew up in line opposite Captain Warner, while in marched a dignified old negress with a red bandanna turban on her head, bearing aloft in both hands a platter containing an enormous pie. This she solemnly deposited on the table, then turned and made her exit in silence, saluted profoundly by the company.

"Chaplain Hart will ask a blessing—will you join us, Captain Warner?"

"No, thank you," replied the commissary, making his exit. "The atmosphere's getting too Yankeeified to suit me, and I'll beg to be excused."

Knife in hand, Hart stood in an attitude of devotion at the head of the table.

"All I can say is, Lord bless this 'ere pie"—then, as an expression of horror and disgust overspread his homely face—"and the Lord help us after we've eaten it! Why, damn my skin, if they ain't gone and put an upper crust on a pumpkin pie! And the pumpkin cut into hunks as big as your fist, without no milk nor sugar, and not half baked, neither!"

"The devil! Those Virginia Darkies are good cooks, but they don't know what pumpkin pie is!"

Deacon Hart carved the pie and distributed slabs all around, remarking philosophically:

"The blacks must be freed and educated. Think of a whole race in such benighted ignorance as this!"

The attack had scarcely begun when Captain Warner once more appeared at the door, making a sign which all the imprisoned officers instantly understood.

"Stir up the animals, boys!" whispered Hart. "Visitors coming."

"Pettycoats, too," added Cox, looking out.

A pretty, vivacious young woman, escorted by a sinister looking Confederate officer, who singled out Lieutenant Bedloe with a malicious sneer and received a flashing look of silent scorn and defiance in return, were shown in by the commissary.

"This is the Potomac room, Miss Mason. Gentlemen, a southern lady pays you the honor of a visit."

Captain Cox bowed courteously, while all his comrades stood in the background.

Found Way to Win.

"I've found the key to success at last," said the poet, as he bought a twenty-five cent cigar. "I had it given out in the papers that I used to be Convict No. 78,554, and was pardoned because the governor liked one of my poems. Since that time my books have been among the six best sellers."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, March 26, 1873.—Conductor of freight train No. 19, going south was knocked down last night by a moving flat car, about half past eight in the evening, and his right arm crushed at the elbow by one of the wheels. Linsley's train was about to depart from the yards and while he was standing beside the engine cab giving instructions to the engineer a switch engine backed an empty car towards him. Not observing the approaching train Linsley stood close to the side track upon which it was moving and the projecting platforms of the flat car struck him, throwing him beneath the rails with his right arm under one of the wheels. Fortunately the car was not loaded or else the arm would have been crushed in two. As it is, the elbow joint is badly broken but the doctor hopes to save the arm and render it of future use to the owner. Conductor Linsley also received a bad flesh cut on the thigh and numerous contusions upon his body and limbs. It is hoped the accident will not long confine him to his bed.

The committee appointed to investigate the Soldiers' Orphan Home at Madison was ungenerally enough in their report to inter the quality of food that was served to the members of the orphans, was on a par to that which was given to them at his home. There is war between these two.

Benj. Harrison lost a cow the other day and after looking all over town for her, he accidentally discovered her in the upper story of his barn among the hay. She had gone up stairs and enjoyed an unlimited amount of timothy.
